

Roy Santana

Mr. Santana has more than 20 years of experience on tariffs and other customs matters. He has worked for the Market Access Division of the World Trade Organization since 2004 where he is currently the Secretary of the Council for Trade in Goods. He previously served as the Secretary of the Committee on Market Access and the Committee on Customs Valuation. He has also provided technical support to the Committee of Participants of the Information Technology Agreement (ITA), the negotiations for the expansion of the ITA, the Trade Facilitation Agreement Facility (TFAF), the Negotiating Group on Non-Agricultural Products (NAMA), and the negotiations for an Environmental Goods Agreement (EGA). He has served as technical liaison in seven disputes under the Dispute Settlement Understanding of the WTO, and frequently contributes to reports and publications by the WTO Secretariat.

Between 2001 and 2004, Mr. Santana worked as a Geneva-based delegate for the Government of Costa Rica. In 2003, he was elected vice-chairman of the International Textiles and Clothing Bureau (ITCB), and served as an alternate member of the Textiles Monitoring Body. From 1998 to 2000 he worked as a trade negotiator on issues relating to Market Access, Agriculture, and Trade & Competition Policy in numerous agreements, including the Free Trade Agreement of the Americas (FTAA), and bilateral trade negotiations with Central America, Canada, Chile, the European Communities, Dominican Republic, Mexico, and Panama.

He occasionally lectures at the Academy of International Economic Law and Policy (AIELPO) of the European Public Law Organization, the Catholic University of Lyon (UCLY), the World Trade Institute (WTI) in Bern, the LL.M. on Food Law of the Guido Carli Institute in Rome, and the Instituto de Empresas (IE) of Madrid.

Mr. Santana holds an LL.M. in Trade Regulation from New York University (NYU), a degree in Law from the University of Costa Rica, and a bachelor's degree in Economics from the same university. Mr. Santana is a member of the New York and Costa Rican Bars.
